Verhalen's Vision

Last Thursday Lincoln invited nationally renowned youth motivational speaker, Josh Dreaan, for a positive message regarding Bullying. With a variety of stories and accounts from his life, he shared how each person should take risks to better themselves and not focus on failure or how others treat you. Mr. Dreaan shared a story of how he got into a Beat Box challenge with someone way better than he was and because he was willing to take a risk, his stature went up in his YouTube followers. At the end of the assembly, the local Pizza Factory, with the help of their national corporate office, donated a Buddy Bench to Lincoln. The Buddy Bench will be a reminder to our students to look for ways to support students that feel left out, that don't have a friend, or are feeling lonely.

Our students are in the process of taking a CUSD survey that will allow them to share how they feel about Lincoln. The District office is collecting data from students about our programs, our staff, and the quality of the school from their perspective. This is the second year that the district is offering this survey to students. The survey questions are posted on the CUSD.com website.

Always do what's right,
Matt Verhalen
