Verhalen's Vision

Lincoln's jog-a-thon ended up on some pretty pleasant weather days after all the days with temps in the hundreds. Our students are highly motivated to make me eat night crawlers and I would do almost anything "crazy" to get them excited about fund raising. As many of you may have heard, I promised the children that I would eat worms if we can all together bring in $15,000. This money is for a good cause and helps to fund our field trips, student activities, PRP parties, and more. There are an assortment of other individual and group prizes that our students and classes can win. The hope is that all of this adds variety and fun to your child's education.

On another note our Lincoln football, cross country, and girls volleyball teams will be tested against Nelson today and I will share results in the next Verhalen's Voice.

One last item I want to tease you all with. One of our music teachers will be taking a group from Lincoln with a group called World Strides to Washington DC and NY City this coming summer. There will be an informational meeting on September 28 at 6:00 PM on campus. Stay tuned for the location.

Always do what's right,
Matt Verhalen
