Verhalen's Vision

The results of our Lincoln Science fair team are in. Our students competed against the six other Clovis West area elementary schools. We had some very solid projects but the competition was steep this year and yet we still had a student take 2nd place. We also had a few third place finishes and the rest of our students were given honorable mentions. To compete for that first place position students have to have a unique experiment, that is new and creative, or something that adds to a current science issue. No matter what experiment you choose your science has to be solid. You need to have more than 1 trial of your experiment to show solid results. For the students that competed the reward of a medal was a nice way to wrap up the hard work that went into the experiments. Great job fifth grade students and teachers for your work representing Lincoln.

Always do what's right,
Matt Verhalen
